CLASSIC ANTARCTICA AIR-CRUISES

7 days or 9 days Departs ex Punta Arenas, Chile

Combining a short flight between Punta Arenas in Chile to King George Island and visa versa, these unique Antarctic journeys make it possible to explore the 'Great White Continent' while avoiding the often turbulent Drake Passage. Boarding the comfortable M/V Ocean Nova, your time at the peninsula will be well spent, sailing along ice-filled fjords and between spectacular icebergs in the constant company of sea birds, penguins, seals and whales. Your adventure will be very active, with several daily landings and cruises in zodiac boats, lectures and a very enjoyable time on board.

After flying from Punta Arenas, you will board the Ocean Nova to spend 3 full days exploring the southern sights of the peninsula. Planned highlights include Livingston Island, Port Lockroy, Petermann Island, Paradise Bay, Cuverville and Deception Island, as well as crossing the Lemaire Channel.
