

LEWA & LAIKIPIA

3 days/2 nights

Departs daily by air ex Nairobi

Extra nights available at all camps

The unsurpassable beauty of the Lewa and Laikipia concessions is owed to the tireless conservation efforts by both the landowners and users. Lewa was the last bastion of Kenya's black and white rhinos in the 1980s and today, these populations thrive alongside other plentiful big game. Situated in Kenya's northern frontier, Laikipia's wildlife is equally prolific, thriving in the sanctuary's open grasslands, alpine moorland and rocky escarpments.

On this page we feature two properties located in Laikipia, and one in the Lewa Wildlife Conservancy. These lodges can easily be included as part of a longer Kenya itinerary (see pages 103-105).
