EXPLORING THE POLAR REGIONS

Discover the scenic wonderland of our earth’s polar regions, where shores are crowded with penguins and blue-white sculpted icebergs float on icy seas. Both Antarctica and the Arctic are destinations that many dream of but few will ever visit. For those who do, each offers unforgettable travel experiences to be treasured forever.

When it comes to planning a polar adventure, experience and expertise count. Our destination specialists have been there and have the first hand knowledge to advise you on your choice of destination and what you can expect to see, the size and style of cruise ship, the nature of the expedition and on-shore activities.

Our extensive polar program includes the breathtaking Antarctica Peninsula, voyages beyond the Circle and even the remote Ross Sea. In November 2021 a lucky few might witness a Total Solar Eclipse amidst the silent grandeur of the Antarctic Ice. Up in the Arctic you can encounter spectacular wildlife like polar bears and walruses, journey to the North Pole or explore the Russian Far East.

We look forward to helping you choose the perfect polar adventure.

Happy exploring,

Stephen & Sara Cameron - Founders

At Natural Focus we pride ourselves on our ability to tailor a truly unique journey that immerses you in some of the planet’s most spectacular places. Wild and remote, Antarctica and the Arctic are best visited by expedition ships which offer opportunities to go ashore. There are also opportunities before or after your cruise to explore a little further, and we can incorporate other special experiences into your itinerary.

Natural Focus, wilderness your way.
WAKE UP
Awaken early in your warm, cosy cabin and start the day with a hearty cooked breakfast. Alternatively, grab a healthy muffin, some fresh fruit or toast to enjoy with a steaming mug of coffee or tea out on deck. Keep your camera and binoculars close by because in the polar regions, you just never know what you might see!

MORNING
It’s time to slip into your hardy outdoor gear as you climb into a Zodiac for a shore landing. Step out onto a pebbly beach to walk amongst raucous penguins and enormous elephant seals. Later, you might hop back on board to navigate the rocky shoreline whilst keeping an eye out for whales as seabirds circle overhead.

EARLY AFTERNOON
Back on the ship, sip a welcome hot beverage before shrugging off your expedition parka and settling down for a casual, convivial lunch. As you sail to the next destination, there’s free time to relax in your cabin, bird or whale-watch from the open deck or listen to an informative lecture by one of the expedition guides.

DINNER
Dinner is often a sit-down affair with a la carte meals served at the table. However, to celebrate a special event such as reaching the North Pole or your last day of cruising, your crew might host a barbecue on deck, to be savoured in the crisp evening air.

EVENING
Retire to the ship’s lounge or library for a nightcap and a little light reading, or learn more about the environment you’ll visit tomorrow at another entertaining presentation. More than likely, you’ll turn in early, in preparation for another big day of adventures ahead.

A TYPICAL POLAR DAY
Expedition-style cruises are unlike ordinary cruise holidays, where itineraries are set. Destinations and activities each day are entirely dependent on climatic, sea and ice conditions. Based on our experience, this is how a typical day might unfold:

EXCURSIONS & ACTIVITIES
Your polar experience begins as soon as your ship leaves port, with onboard lectures by the ship’s specialist expedition staff on history, geology, wildlife and ecology. At specially chosen locations you will go ashore by Zodiac inflatables to visit wildlife colonies, historic sites and scientific research stations. The long daylight hours usually allow time for two or three activities per day (conditions permitting). Landings can be “wet” or “dry”, so rubber boots and waterproof clothing are imperative. A reasonable level of agility is required, but the majority of activities are suitable for most travellers. Some departures offer the option for more adventurous explorations such as kayaking, climbing, scuba diving and cross country skiing.

SHORE EXCURSIONS
ZODIAC EXCURSIONS
SEA KAYAKING
LATE AFTERNOON
Before you know it, it’s time to get ready for your next activity. You may find yourself going for a walk to a scenic lookout point or cruising the pristine waters to admire the rich marine life.

POLAR CRUISES
Due to the exploratory nature of these voyages there is no set itinerary and daily programs are weather and ice dependent. In Antarctica shore landings are governed by strict guidelines and the capacity of the vessel. Our featured ships carry less than 200 passengers which allows for more onshore opportunities.

GETTING THERE

Most of our voyages depart from Ushuaia at the southern tip of Argentina. Qantas and LATAM fly from Australia to Santiago, with connections to Buenos Aires and Ushuaia. Air New Zealand flies from Australia to Buenos Aires via Auckland with connections to Ushuaia. Please contact us regarding voyages departing from other gateways.

WEATHER

Antarctica is the world’s 5th largest continent. Whilst the interior has a harsh climate, the coastal areas are considerably warmer. The Antarctic Peninsula, extending to within 1,000km of South America, has the most moderate climate with temperatures averaging between 5°C to -5°C in the summer (Nov - Mar). On calm, sunny days it can feel quite warm. However, cold, windy and changeable weather must always be expected.

Weather

Average July temperatures range from about -10 to +10 °C, with some land areas occasionally exceeding 30 °C in summer (Jun - Sep).

THE NORTHERN FRONTIER

Journey with us northwards to the ethereal beauty of the Arctic, where you will discover dreamlike landscapes of snow and ice, rugged mountains, dazzling glaciers and the tranquil shores of sheltered fjords and inlets. This is a region of impressive wildlife, from huge polar bears measuring up to 3 metres in length, impressively shaggy muskox and massive tusked walrus to giant colonies of birds and seals. White beluga whales glide silently through the cold waters, which are also home to humpback and bowhead whales, bearded seals, and the mysterious narwhal.

Our ships are the same sturdy, ice-strengthened polar expedition vessels used in Antarctica, and the cruises we offer also feature a wide range of exciting off-ship experiences. Unique to the Arctic are land-based safaris - ideal for the adventurous traveller. Whether you choose to sail or travel overland, all our trips are designed to get you as close to the action as possible, with daily excursions by Zodiac, by kayak or on foot.

Itineraries are flexible and depend on ice, weather conditions as well as the movements of wildlife.

GETTING THERE

Our journeys in the Arctic depart from Canada, Longyearbyen in Svalbard (an archipelago under Norwegian governance), Reykjavík in Iceland, Kangerlussuaq in Greenland, Helsinki in Finland and Murmansk and Anadyr in Russia. Flights to these locations are available from most Australian capital cities. Please contact us for further details.

WEATHER

The Arctic climate is characterised broadly by long, cold winters and short, cool summers, with a large amount of variability across the region. Some parts of the Arctic are covered by ice year-round, whilst others, especially around coastal areas, experience sustained ice-free periods. Average July temperatures range from about -10 to +15 °C, with some land areas occasionally exceeding 30 °C in summer (Jun - Sep).
Explore the vast wilderness of the Antarctic Peninsula, the most accessible area of the ‘Great White Continent’. Discover a huge diversity of birdlife, including Gentoo, Chinstrap and Adelie Penguins, Storm Petrels, Skuas and Terns. 8 or 10 days
Departs ex Punta Arenas, Chile

Combining a short flight between Punta Arenas in Chile to King George Island and vice versa, these unique Antarctic journeys make it possible to explore the ‘Great White Continent’ while avoiding the often turbulent Drake Passage. Travelling on the Ocean Nova, Hebridean Sky or Magellan Explorer, your time on the Peninsula will be well spent, sailing along ice-filled fjords and between spectacular icebergs in the constant company of seabirds, penguins, seals and whales. Your daily itinerary will be very active, filled with a combination of several daily landings, cruises in Zodiac boats or walks along the shores to bird and seal colonies.

The 8-day Air-Cruise focuses on visiting the many attractions near the tip of the magnificent Antarctic Peninsula, including Paulet Island, Hope Bay, Port Lockroy, Petermann Island, Paradise Bay, Deception Island as well as crossing the Lemaire Channel.
