ANTARCTIC AIR-CRUISES

8 or 10 days

Departs ex Punta Arenas, Chile

Combining a short flight between Punta Arenas in Chile to King George Island and vice versa, these unique Antarctic journeys make it possible to explore the 'Great White Continent' while avoiding the often turbulent Drake Passage. Travelling on the Ocean Nova, Hebridean Sky or Magellan Explorer, your time on the Peninsula will be well spent, sailing along ice-filled fjords and between spectacular icebergs in the constant company of seabirds, penguins, seals and whales. Your adventure will be very active, with several daily landings, cruises in Zodiac boats and walks along the shore to bird and seal colonies.

The 8-day Air-Cruise focusses on visiting the many attractions near the tip of the magnificent Antarctic Peninsula, including Paulet Island, Hope Bay, Port Lockroy, Petermann Island, Paradise Bay, Deception Island as well as crossing the Lemaire Channel. The 10-day Air-Cruise encompasses a more in-depth exploration of the Peninsula with the goal of attempting to cross the Antarctic Circle. In small groups, you'll hike and take part in exploratory Zodiac excursions to otherwise inaccessible areas, abundant in wildlife and breathtaking scenery. Your expert polar guides will share their passion for Antarctica through presentations, and lead you ashore to see the many wonders of the Antarctic environment.
